WHY GLASS

- Infinite Recyclability

- Glass can be recycled endlessly without loss of quality, closing the loop on waste in a way plastics cannot.
- Each ton of recycled glass saves nearly 300 kg of CO₂ emissions and 190 kg of raw materials (sand, soda ash, limestone).

- Lower Environment Footprint

- Producing 1 L of bottled water from plastic consumes up to 1.32 L of additional water and significant fossil-fuel energy.
- In contrast, refilling and reusing glass in-house via a simple filtration system reduces resource use by over 80% versus single-use PET bottles.

- Health and Purity -

- Glass is inert and non-porous—no chemical leaching, no off-flavors—preserving the pristine taste your guests expect
- Sanitized and refilled hundreds of times, glass bottles maintain the highest hygiene standards, aligning with luxury-hospitality protocols

Boost Guest Satisfaction & Retention

Studies show that visible, eco-friendly amenities—like refillable glass bottles—significantly enhance guest perceptions of quality, satisfaction, and willingness to return.

- Strengthen Your Sustainability Credentials

A modern guest actively seeks out—and remembers—hotels with clear green practices. Glass-bottle programs support your brand story and appear prominently in travel reviews, press features, and loyalty communications .

- Reduce Operational Costs

Implementing in-house bottled-water systems can save hundreds of thousands annually. One case study estimates a mid-sized property could recoup its glass-bottle investment in under 18 months through lower procurement, waste, and disposal fees

How Your Hotel Benefits

A 5-star hotel is measured by both guest satisfaction and hotel's ESG (Environmental, Social, Governance) performance. Our glass-water-bottle programme justifies the switch to meet and exceed your next sustainability audit targets.

1. Carbon Savings

Single-Use PET: 1 litre plastic bottle generates 165.6 g CO₂ e per liter.

Reusable Glass: Even accounting for manufacturing, a refillable glass bottle breaks even after just 2–3 refills, then delivers net carbon savings thereafter

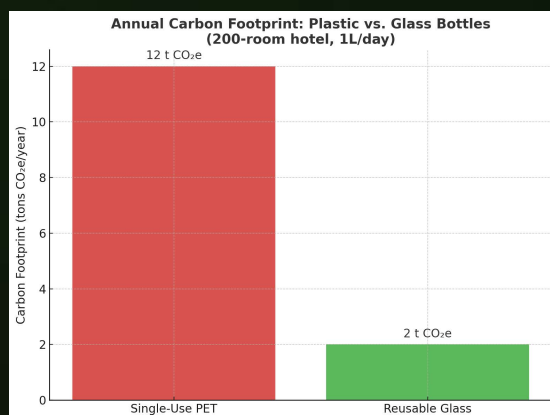

Hotel Impact Example

A 200-room property offering 1 L bottles in every room, refilled daily:

Plastic: 200 L/day × 165.6 g CO₂ e/L → 33 kg CO₂ e/day → 12 t CO₂ e/year

Glass: 200 L/day × (165.6 g ÷ 3 uses) → 5.5 kg CO₂ e/day → 2 t CO₂ e/year

Annual reduction: ~10 t CO₂ e (equivalent to driving 40,000 km in a midsize car)

2. Audit-Ready ESG Compliance

Scope 3 Emissions: Hospitality audits now require disclosure of purchased goods' life-cycle footprints (CDP, GRI Standards). Switching to glass bottles directly reduces your Hotel's supply-chain emissions under Scope 3.

Waste Diversion: Glass is 100% endlessly recyclable. By eliminating up to 70% of single-use plastics, you'll meet targets for zero-waste certifications and lower your landfill and incineration metrics.

3. Guest Experience & Brand Differentiation

Premium Perception: 78% of luxury-travel guests say eco-friendly amenities enhance their hotel impression

A bespoke glass-bottle display reinforces your brand's commitment to both elegance and environmental stewardship.

Hygiene & Taste: Glass is inert—no microplastics, no leaching—ensuring pristine, neutral-taste drinking water that outperforms PET .

4. Rapid Payback & Cost Savings

Break-Even: Analysts find glass bottles pay for themselves in fewer than 18 months through reduced procurement, recycling, and waste-disposal costs.

Operational Efficiency: Integrates seamlessly with in-house filtration or central-fill stations—no logistical upheaval, just cleaner IRFs (In-Room Fridge) inventories and lower BoH (Back-of-House) plastic waste.
